Commonly Used CPT Codes - Primary Care

Although there are few specific codes for billing for buprenorphine treatment (nor for all of addiction medicine), most private health insurance companies are now covering the cost of treatment. PCPs have been successfully using standard evaluation and management outpatient billing codes for both the induction and maintenance stages of treatment.

Coding is either based on complexity of service or time, with four contributing components:

- history
- physical exam
- complexity of decision-making
- contributing factors (eg: time)

In the event of an audit, the documentation for a single visit must stand alone, unless another record is specifically referenced.

The most commonly used CPT codes by Primary Care Physicians are as follows:

Type of Visit	Code
Assessment Visit:	New Patient: 99205

How-To Guide: How to Understand Insurance and Billing Issues

Type of Visit	Code
Comprehensive evaluation of new patient or established patient for suitability for buprenorphine treatment	Established Patient: 99215
Induction Visits: Any of the new patient evaluation and management (E/M) codes might be used for maintenance visits. Codes listed are in order of increasing length of time with patient and/or severity of the problems.	New Patient E/M: 99201-05 Established Patient E/M: 99211-15 Patient Consult: 99241-45 Psychiatric Outpatient Counseling: 99251-55
Psychiatric outpatient counseling code does not specify minutes.	Add-on Codes: 30-60 minutes: 99354; 60+ minutes: 99355
Prolonged visit codes (99354, 99355) may also be added onto E/M codes for services that extend beyond the typical service time, with or without face-to-face patient contact. Time spent need not be continuous.

Maintenance Visits:

Any of these established patient E/M codes might be used for maintenance visits.

Established Patient: 99211-15

Counseling codes are commonly used to bill for maintenance visits, since since counseling and coordinating service with addiction specialists comprise the majority of these follow-up visits.

See the following page on counseling for more detailed information on how to bill for these visits.

The current ICD-10 code for opioid dependence is F11. The new code must be used by October 2015. The ICD-9 Code for opioid dependence was 304.0x. For the (x) use these classifications: 0=unspecified, 1=continuous, 2=episodic, 3=in remission.

Some private health insurers are developing standard billing codes for buprenorphine treatment services. For instance, Cigna tells clinicians to use the HCPCS code for "unspecified mental health care" for buprenorphine-related visits. The code is H0033 - Oral Medication Administration, Direct Observation. Cigna allows for approximately $300 reimbursement for the induction visit.

- There is no distinction made by setting, psychotherapy codes are now applied to all settings.
- A code was created for "Psychotherapy for crisis" (CPT code: 90839, +90840), effective January 1, 2013.

Please refer to the table below for current CPT codes for the most common psychiatric services.

The most commonly used CPT codes by Psychiatrists are as follows:

Overview of Medicaid Coverage

Because Medicaid provides substance abuse treatment as a state option, Medicaid coverage for buprenorphine treatment varies significantly by state. Some states reimburse Medicaid patients for buprenorphine treatment, and others do not, even when it is listed on the formulary. For example, in New Jersey, the Suboxone® tablet itself was covered by Medicaid, but the office-based treatment visits were not (Colameco et al, 2005). Check with your state for the current status on reimbursement for buprenorphine.

Medicaid coverage of buprenorphine depends on:

- Prior authorization and medical necessity
- If your state's Medicaid plan is offered through a managed care or HMO program
- If buprenorphine is on your state's formulary list, check online or call your state's Medicaid office to determine what coverage is available for buprenorphine treatment.

Medicaid Screening and Brief Intervention Codes

New Screening and Brief Intervention (SBI) codes are currently in place in 9 states. These codes, H0049 - Alcohol and Drug Screening, and H0050 - Brief Intervention, enable physicians to be reimbursed for screening Medicaid-eligible patients for substance abuse.

The states with the codes in place thus far are: Iowa, Maryland, Minnesota, Montana, Oklahoma, Oregon, Tennessee, Virginia, and Washington. Wisconsin provides SBI as part of a package for pregnant women.

Note for Medicaid licensed providers who live in states where Medicaid pays for buprenorphine treatment: charging cash for buprenorphine treatment is illegal and state attorney generals have been investigating such practices.

Setting Up a Cash-Only Buprenorphine Treatment Program

Some providers run a cash-only buprenorphine treatment practice in which they set their own fees and costs for treatment. Cash-only-service treatment providers should have a clear policy and cost sheet regarding initial and ongoing expenses for treatment. This should include costs for assessment, induction, and maintenance visits. You should also take into account the various costs of providing services to your patients, which may include:

- Staff time spent with patients
- Administrative time (i.e. filling out paperwork, answering phone calls)
- Capital and operating expenses

To get a better idea of reasonable rates to charge for buprenorphine treatment, you may want to consult with a more experienced provider in your local area. You can contact other buprenorphine providers via the PCSS or NAABT websites or SAMHSA waived physician webboard.

You need to also be aware of billing fraud. If you have a contract with a health insurance company then the contract may prohibit you from accepting cash for covered services, unless specific waiver of covered benefits forms are filled out by the patient prior to the delivery of services. Accepting cash payment without specific authorization by insurer may be considered billing fraud.

Overview of Medicare Coverage

Buprenorphine treatment costs are typically not covered by Medicare unless the treatment is provided in an inpatient or outpatient treatment center. It may also be covered in some instances, such as during detoxification or early stage stabilization. However, the Medicare benefit does not usually cover typical office-based buprenorphine induction or maintenance treatment visits.

In some instances, Medicare Part D may cover the cost of the buprenorphine tablets themselves. Only some Medicare providers will reimburse (including Healthnet Orange, Silverscript, and Wellcare) and prior authorization is usually required.

Learn more about Medicare coverage for buprenorphine treatment by searching the online Formulary Finder for Prescription Drug Plans and Advantage Prescription Drug Plans. Note: search under "Suboxone®" in these guides.

Overview of Private Insurance Coverage

Health insurance plans classify buprenorphine as a "niche" medication. This is because Suboxone® and buprenorphine monotherapy tablets are prescribed solely for opioid dependence, a diagnosis that companies predict will affect a limited number of their covered individuals. However, private insurance companies are increasingly covering the cost of the appointments, and almost all major insurance providers now cover the cost of the prescription itself. Companies are also making it easier for physicians to obtain reimbursement for buprenorphine treatment.

Note that though insurers may cover more costs, there is often a high co-pay amount since buprenorphine is typically off-formulary. As such, the cost of co-pay can be exorbitant for patients and may require planning and foresight regarding dosing and medication refills. For instance, federal Blue Cross/Blue Shield co-pays are based on the number of pills prescribed.

Additionally, insurance coverages also vary by region; patients who plan to use insurance coverage for buprenorphine treatment should contact their provider to see what expenses are covered. This should be done prior to starting treatment so that there are no unexpected charges or fees later on.

Cost of Buprenorphine Treatment to Patients

The cost of buprenorphine can vary depending on the dose. Cost of a dose of buprenorphine is determined by:

- The pharmaceutical company, brand names and other companies that produce generic buprenorphine
- The health plan
- Retail pharmacies

Daily doses are normally from 8 mg to 24 mg (if using sublingual tablets), (Sullivan & Fiellin, 2008).

Prior-authorization is often required, although this may be decreasing in frequency. Many private clinics accept only cash. For patients who can afford to pay cash, they will have to seek reimbursement through their insurance carriers.

Daily buprenorphine costs $4,000 to $5,000 per year and methadone costs $2,600 to $5,200 (Blueshift, 2017). Cost for the implant form of buprenorphine is $4,000 to $6,000 for six months. These estimates are based on an average dose of 16 mg/day, not including the $100-$200 fee for office-visits. Of course, these rates will vary based on factors such as geographic location and proximity of other providers.

A variety of prescription discounts are available for low-income patients.

- Needy Meds
- Free Drug Card Program
- AAA members can save an average of 20% off the retail price of prescriptions, valid at participating pharmacies.

The generic combination buprenorphine/naloxone tablets may reduce the cost to patients significantly.

Summary

- Most private health insurance companies are now covering the cost of buprenorphine treatment although there are few specific codes
- Medicaid provides substance abuse treatment as a state option, therefore Medicaid coverage for buprenorphine treatment varies significantly by state.
- The Medicare benefit does not usually cover typical office-based buprenorphine induction or maintenance treatment visits.
- Private insurance companies are increasingly covering the cost of the appointments for buprenorphine treatment, and almost all major insurance providers now cover the cost of the prescription itself.
- The cost of buprenorphine varies with the dose and the retail pharmacy. Cost to the patient obviously varies with the health plan
